COURT GETS BACK TO PEKIN.

EMPRESS DOWAGER SMILES AT THE FOREIGNERS.

illant Scene as the Emperor is Borne Into the Capital -Route From Station to Palace Lined by Kneeling Troops Ladies of the Legation See the Show.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. Parin, Jan. 7.-There was a brilliant and striking scene here to-day on the entry of the Imperial Court. A thousand Chinese oblemen in gorgeous attire attended the Court. The Emperor, the Empress Dowager, Prince Chun and the young Empress and several Princes were borne on gorgeous palanquins, their immediate scort carrying hundreds of gay banners

The Court left Paoting-fu at 8 o'clock this morning. The roadway to the station, distance of two miles, was screened from public gaze. At the station an elaborately decorated train of twenty-two coaches was in waiting to carry the royal party to the outskirts of Pekin.

The Court arrived at the palace at 1:30 o'clock, as scheduled, though the train was late at Machiapu, where the Court was received by Prince Ching, Wang Wen Shao, du Qu Feh, Chen Pi, Civil Governor of Pekin, Gens. Mayu Kun and Chiang and other high dignitaries.

The most elaborate military precautions were taken. The published plans of the reception were changed and alternate companies of Yuan Shih Kai's and Gen. Mayu Kun's soldiers occupied the route from the station to the palace. Altogether, there were 2,000 soldiers guarding the line of the procession from the Machiapu station. The gendarmerie with which Yuy Hu Yu Fen desired to guard the route were dispensed with in favor of soldiers.

The procession of chairs was headed by the chair of the Emperor, who was accompanied by Gen. Mayu Kun, with two troops of oavairy, and Gen. Chiang, with a battalion

The Empress Dowager was accompanied by Vicercy Yuan Shih Kai, with an equal military escort. Then came the Emperor's concubines and their attendants, Gen. Yung Lu, and civil officials and their retinues. This order was maintained from a point two miles south of the city gate.

Inside the gate high officials were distributed for a mile along the stone street leading directly to the palace. These inluded Princes, Dukes, members of the Imperial Clan, the Six Boards, the Censorate, the Colonial Office, the Hanlin College, Manchu Generals, Yamen officials, provincial officials and gentry. Old men and soldiers, all kneeling, stretched along the route to the Chien Nen gate, where the procession was viewed by a crowd of foreigners.

The Emperor and Empress Dowager entered the temples and worshipped before entering the Imperial city. The ladies of the different legations witnessed the pro-cession from a shop on Chien Nen street, which was furnished for their use by the Chinese officials. Many foreigners were seen along the line of march.

The Empress Dowager smiled at and bowed to all the foreigners. With the Emperor she passed in full view of the new barracks and the large Catholio hospital. Despite the immense crowds there was per

Thomas McGurk's aged appearance-he s 70 years old-touched the hearts of a number of talesmen yesterday in the crimi-nal branch of the Supreme Court where McGurk was arraigned for trial on the charge of murdering Gottlieb Saehr last July. addressing Justice Kennefick, "I am an old man 68 years old. I cannot sit in judgment on this man who is so old, too. My conscience is troubling me."

"I will excuse you," said the Justice, and set about securing another juror. The panel was exhausted by 11 o'clock and an adjournment taken until 2:30 when a new panel of talesmen were in court. It took an hour to get another juror, talesman after talesman manifesting great reluctance to sit in judgment on McGurk.

McGurk's plea is self-defence. He was a watchman for the Rapid Transit Company at Broadway and 161st street. Sachr was a gardener who told McGurk's foreman that some one was stealing property of the contractor. McGurk thought that the charge was a reflection upon his effi-

ALBANY, Jan. 7.-Prohibitive tax legislation against foreign corporations doing day by Senator Krum and Assemblyman Morgan, chairmen of the Taxation committee, in their respective houses. There were two bills, and they carry out the recommendations made by Gov. Odell in his annual message to the Legislature.

While taxation is the main feature of this proposed legislation its purpose is not revenue. These bills are introduced with a view of compelling the big combinations of capital now incorporated other States which transact most of their business in this State either to reincorporate in this State or stand the consequences of generous taxation. It is the expectation of the Governor and the Republican leaders in the Legislature that this legislation will be passed and that it will remedy the condition complained of. If it has the effect desired there will be a big indirect revenue in that it will add to our corporate taxable values. The bill introduced imposes a license tax of one-eighth of 1 per cent. on the capital of foreign corporations doing business here. This is practically an organization In addition to the franchise, or dividend tax, now imposed upon foreign corporations doing business here, the bill levies upon such corporations an annual tax of one-tenth of 1 per cent. on each dollar of the capital of such a foreign corporation wherever employed up to and including $10,000,000; and a tax at the rate of $100 per $1,000,000 on all capitalizations in excess of $10,000,000.

Another bill introduced by Messrs. Krum and Morgan will, it is expected, prevent further evasion upon the part of foreign manufacturing corporations of the law passed last year, which took away from them the exemption from taxation granted to domestic manufacturing corporations unless they had at least 40 per cent. of their property within this State. The bill prevents such a foreign company from incorporating in this State with the same name as borne by it in another State and a corporation thus formed here is allowed. no corporation thus formed here is allowed to merge with or be operated by a foreign corporation unless such foreign corpora-tion has filed a certificate with the Secretary tion has filed a certificate with the Secretary of State, so that it will pay the tax imposed on foreign corporations here.

Although the majority of the members of the Legislature from New York city secretly or openly favor a change in the Excise laws that will permit of Sunday opening in New York city, yet none will willingly espouse a bill having that object in view. For once the Democratic members are backward in coming forward bers are backward in coming forward with legislation of that character. The leaders of both houses are emphatic in saying that no liberal amendment to the Excise law will be passed by this Legislature.

ctals Buy Votes Openly. PRESHOLD, N. J., Jan. 7.—Supreme Court Justice J. Franklin Fort at the open to-day delivered a scathing charge upon vote buying in Monmouth county. Among other things he said:

other things he said:

The open and notorious buying and selling of votes on election days throughout the county has become to be so common and pervasive that the moral sense of the rank and file of the voters has been absolutely hardened and the pursuit of public office has become a question of absolute barter and sale. At the regular election last fall the offices to be filled were those of Governor and Assemblyman. The salary of the latter is $500 and the Republican candidates were successful. The unsuccessful Democratic candidates are said to have spent over $2,500 while the amount expended for their rivals alone is said to have been twice that sum. The liepublican county leader who holds a high official position in the county is currently reported to have contributed to the corruption fund of his party nearly $3,000 while the sum allotted by his State Committee for the same purpose was said to have been over $8,000. The corruption of voters is done openly on the public streets within sight of the polls.

This condition seems to prevail throughout the agricultural communities of the State in the face of the most stringent anti-bribery election law. The cities of the State appear to be comparatively free from the evil. The public officials themselves are participants in the practice and their presence about the polls on election day directing their lieutenants in the disbursment of the corruption fund appears to many to add a kind of dignity to the work and has prevented the police officials from enforcing the law.

Judge Fort told the Grand Jury not to hesitate in indicting no matter how influential a person its investigations pointed to as guilty.

OVERALL MAKERS MEET.

They Organize a National Association to Suppress Undue Competition.

The first convention of overall manufacturers ever held in this country met yesterday at the Hotel Albert, 42 East Eleventh street, and formed a national association. Delegates were present from about twenty cities. The object of the convention was to devise ways of putting a stop to competition, which, it is alleged, a stop to competition, which, it is alleged, is reducing the margin of profit year by year, until it is no longer profitable to manufacture some of the cheaper grades. The new organization is to be known as the National Association of Mechanics' Garment Manufacturers and will include the manufacturers of workingmen's blouses, jumpers and working clothes as well as overalls. WILLIAMS ALUMNI DINE.

Acting President Hewitt of the College Puts in a Good Word for Athletics. The annual dinner of the Williams College Alumni of New York was held last night at Delmonico's. About one hundred and fifty graduates of the college were present. Jacob F. Miller, President of the association, acted as toastmaster, and Prof. John Haskell Hewitt, acting President of the college, was the first speaker. He traced briefly the history of the institution during the last year and in his mention of athletics said that he believed that baseball and football developed chivalry as much as did the field of Zutphen and the Cloth of Gold.

Prof Hewitt told the diners that the college is greatly in need of a new chapel, an administration building and better accommodations in the less expensive dormitories. He also urged the endowment of two new chairs and a fund to be used for the support of the aged professors who have given the best years of their life to the service of the college. He said that $1,000,000 was needed to put the college in the position that it merits. in the position that it merits.

John C. O'Brien, a brother of ex-Sheriff James O'Brien and a familiar Wall Street character, died of pneumonia at the New York Hospital early on Monday morning. He was a native of this city and was 54 years old and a bachelor. He had a stationery business in the late 60s and early 70s on Broad street near Exchange place. He supplied to a number of railroads practically all their estationery and gained a large acquaintance among railroad men and brokers, with whom he was popular. He retired with a competence, making a present of his business to his nephew. He then devoted his energies to speculation in Wall Street and at one time was worth $250,000, although energies to speculation in Wall Street is to not time was worth $250,000, although lost part of this later, it is said. He was an of strong personal likes and dislikes, I he had a practice of publicly talking in processing the process of denunciation about certain Wall Street's speculative leaders. Besides brother, a sister, a nephew and two nicoses vive him.
